Course Description:

Labor economics is the study of how labor markets function and the determinants of outcomes such as the extent of employment and the wage level. Topics we will cover include education & training, labor supply and welfare programs, migration, minimum wages and discrimination. All topics will be motivated by real-world examples and policy questions, so that you can see how this field of economics can enhance our understanding of how the world works.

Course Goals:

Students who successfully complete this course will demonstrate competency in the following general education core goals:

- Critical Thinking Skills – Students will engage in analytical thinking, demonstrating the ability to critically evaluate, synthesize, and apply knowledge to complex problems, and construct well-reasoned solutions and arguments.
- Independent Research and Inquiry – Students will conduct independent research, utilizing academic resources to explore relevant topics, formulating research questions, analyzing data, and presenting findings in a coherent, scholarly manner.
- Problem-Solving and Application – Students will apply theoretical concepts and methodologies learned in the course to real-world problems, demonstrating the ability to develop practical solutions informed by academic inquiry.
- Global and Cultural Awareness – Students will gain awareness of the global and cultural contexts relevant to the course, appreciating diverse perspectives and considering the implications of their studies in a broader, international context.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

- define key concepts related to labour markets;
- explain the optimization process behind labour supply and demand, analyze labour market equilibria and welfare programs;
- understand and analyze the effects of migration on labour markets, both in the short and long term.

Textbooks/Supplies/Materials/Equipment/ Technology or Technical Requirements:

Pierre Cahuc, Stéphane Carcillo, André Zylberberg (2014) Labor Economics, The MIT Press.

Course Requirements:

Quizzes

There will be quizzes throughout the semester at the beginning of random classes. Quizzes include multiple choice questions of varying difficulty to build familiarity with the material and to prepare you for the exams.

Problem Sets

There will be 5 problem sets. You may work in groups of up to three; make sure to put all individuals' names on submissions. However, I encourage students to attempt the problems individually first. Problem sets are the best practice for exams, so it is to your advantage to take them seriously.

Midterm Exam

The exam is closed-book, closed-notes, and will include all material covered prior to the exam. The exam includes multiple-choice questions to test general concepts and short answer questions that require you to work through an example.

Final Exam

The exam is closed-book, closed-notes and will draw from material covered in all classes. The exam includes multiple-choice and short-answer questions.

Accommodation Statement:

Academic accommodations may be made for any student who notifies the instructor of the need for an accommodation. It is imperative that you take the initiative to bring such needs to the instructor's attention, as he/she is not legally permitted to inquire. Students who may require assistance in emergency evacuations should contact the instructor as to the most appropriate procedures to follow.

Academic Integrity Statement

Each student is expected to maintain the highest standards of honesty and integrity in academic and professional matters. The University reserves the right to take disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal, against any student who is found guilty of academic dishonesty or otherwise fails to meet the standards. Any student judged to have engaged in academic dishonesty in coursework may receive a reduced or failing grade for the work in question and/or for the course.

Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, dishonesty in quizzes, tests, or assignments; claiming credit for work not done or done by others; hindering the academic work of other students; misrepresenting academic or professional qualifications within or without the University; and nondisclosure or misrepresentation in filling out applications or other University records.

Other Items:

Attendance and Expectations

All students are required to attend every class, except in cases of illness, serious family concerns, or other major problems. We expect that students will arrive on time, be prepared to listen and participate as appropriate, and stay for the duration of a meeting rather than drift in or out casually. In short, we anticipate that students will show professors and fellow students maximum consideration by minimizing the disturbances that cause interruptions in the learning process. This means that punctuality is a must, that cellular phones be turned off, and that courtesy is the guiding principle in all exchanges among students and faculty. You will be responsible for the materials and ideas presented in the lecture.

Assignment Due Dates

All written assignments must be turned in at the time specified. Late assignments will not be accepted unless prior information has been obtained from the instructor. If you believe you have extenuating circumstances, please contact the instructor as soon as possible.

Make-Up Work

The instructor will not provide students with class information or make-up assignments/quizzes/exams missed due to an unexcused absence. Absences will be excused and assignments/quizzes/exams may be made up only with written documentation of an authorized absence. Every effort should be made to avoid scheduling appointments during class. An excused student is responsible for requesting any missed information from the instructor and setting up any necessary appointments outside of class.

Access, Special Needs, and Disabilities

Please notify the instructor at the start of the semester if you have any documented disabilities, a medical issue, or any special circumstances that require attention, and the school will be happy to assist.
