Prerequisite	FILM 1121 Introduction to Film

Course Description:

This course examines the historical origins of cinema from the late 19th century to the mid-20th century (1890-1960). Students will explore the major aesthetic developments, technological innovations, and cultural contexts that shaped the evolution of film as an art form and a medium of communication. The course will emphasize the analysis of important individual films, movements, and filmmakers, with a focus on understanding the global impact of cinema during this transformative period. We will trace the changing styles, techniques, content, and methods of film-making as an art form, as a form of popular media, and as an industry.

Course Goals:

Students who successfully complete this course will demonstrate competency in the following general education core goals:

- Critical thinking skills – Students will engage in creative and/or innovative thinking, and/or inquiry, analysis, evaluation, synthesis of information, organizing concepts, and constructing solutions.
- Communication skills – Students will demonstrate effective written, oral, and visual communication.
- Teamwork – Students will demonstrate the ability to work effectively with others to support a shared purpose or goal and consider different points of view.
- Social responsibility – Students will demonstrate intercultural competency and civic knowledge by engaging effectively in local, regional, national, and global communities.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

- articulate and describe the defining attributes of various film genres as they were practiced during different historical moments;
- identify significant movements, innovations, and figures in film history;
- demonstrate a richer basic knowledge of cinema and be able to place a film in its historical context;
- write and speak critically about films using appropriate terminology and theoretical frameworks.

Textbooks/Supplies/Materials/Equipment/ Technology or Technical Requirements:

David Bordwell and Kristin Thompson, Film History: An Introduction, 3rd ed., McGraw Hill, 2010.

Course Requirements:*Participation and Attendance

Participation is a substantial part of your grade and is extremely important to your success. You are required to keep track of our progress and review the course material. Watch the film, read the assigned material, and submit the assignments in a timely fashion (reading and film responses).

Reading Responses

For each assigned reading, write a 1-2 page response that summarizes the main arguments, analyzes key points, and reflects on how the reading connects to the course themes. Focus on engaging critically with the material, connecting it to the historical context of cinema, and preparing for class discussions. Responses should be clear, well-organized, and submitted before the class session in which the reading will be discussed.

Film Responses

After viewing each assigned film, write a 1-2 page response analyzing its formal elements (e.g., cinematography, editing, sound) and thematic content. Discuss how the film reflects its historical and cultural context, and include a personal reflection on your reaction to the film. Connect the film to broader developments in cinema history and compare it to other films studied in the course. Responses should demonstrate depth of analysis, originality, and clarity, and are due one week after the film is screened.

Midterm Exam

Exam composed of True and False statements, short questions, film analysis and essay questions. The exam questions include the history of the cinematic movements and the films analyzed, as well as all the readings discussed during the first half of the class. It's essential that you keep up with the readings and watch the films throughout the semester.

Final Paper

In this paper, you will work through an aspect of the course providing an original reading of one or two film discussed in class. We will provide prompts and specific instructions regarding format and citations for the paper a few weeks in advance of due dates.

Assessments: Activity	Percent Contribution
Participation and Attendance	10%

Accommodation Statement

Academic accommodations may be made for any student who notifies the instructor of the need for an accommodation. It is imperative that you take the initiative to bring such needs to the instructor's attention, as he/she is not legally permitted to inquire. Students who may require assistance in emergency evacuations should contact the instructor as to the most appropriate procedures to follow.

Academic Integrity Statement

Each student is expected to maintain the highest standards of honesty and integrity in academic and professional matters. The University reserves the right to take disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal, against any student who is found guilty of academic dishonesty or otherwise fails to meet the standards. Any student judged to have engaged in academic dishonesty in coursework may receive a reduced or failing grade for the work in question and/or for the course.

Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, dishonesty in quizzes, tests, or assignments; claiming credit for work not done or done by others; hindering the academic work of other students; misrepresenting academic or professional qualifications within or without the University; and nondisclosure or misrepresentation in filling out applications or other University records.

Other Items:

Attendance and Expectations

All students are required to attend every class, except in cases of illness, serious family concerns, or other major problems. We expect that students will arrive on time, be prepared to listen and participate as appropriate, and stay for the duration of a meeting rather than drift in or out casually. In short, we anticipate that students will show professors and fellow students maximum consideration by minimizing the disturbances that cause interruptions in the learning process. This means that punctuality is a must, that cellular phones be turned off, and that courtesy is the guiding principle in all exchanges among students and faculty. You will be responsible for the materials and ideas presented in the lecture.

Assignment Due Dates

All written assignments must be turned in at the time specified. Late assignments will not be accepted unless prior information has been obtained from the instructor. If you believe you have extenuating circumstances, please contact the instructor as soon as possible.

Make-Up Work

The instructor will not provide students with class information or make-up assignments/quizzes/exams missed due to an unexcused absence. Absences will be excused and assignments/quizzes/exams may be made up only with written documentation of an authorized absence. Every effort should be made to avoid scheduling appointments during class. An excused student is responsible for requesting any missed information from the instructor and setting up any necessary appointments outside of class.

Access, Special Needs and Disabilities

Please notify the instructor at the start of the semester if you have any documented disabilities, a medical issue, or any special circumstances that require attention, and the school will be happy to assist.
